BUNDLES GROUP STARTS SPRING CAMPAIGN HERE

Warren Branch of Bundles for Britain launched its spring campaign at the meeting held last evening at the Y. W. C. A. activities building, the day following the worst raid that London has yet experienced.

The chairman spoke of the loyal support and steady, continued work of the members and of the expressions of appreciation from the national headquarters; also of the necessity of raising more funds for the continuance of its work of knitting and making hospital garments.

Announcement was made of the magnificent contribution by Miss Jean Robertson in the form of a piano recital to be given April 3 at 8:30 o'clock, and of the generosity of the Philomel members in contributing the entire clubhouse and tuning of the piano for that purpose. Opportunity to make reservations for this event was given at this meeting to the active members of the Philomel Club and Bundles for Britain before placing tickets on sale, since the capacity of the clubhouse is necessarily limited.

Mention was also made of the splendid support being given by different groups and individuals. Checks received this week from individuals and the Warren Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, were acknowledged with gratitude.

The fine work of the afghan-knitting group was also touched upon. A detailed report of this particular activity, reports of various chairmen, and announcement of the next benefit to follow, the recital by Miss Robertson, will be made at the next meeting, which will be held Tuesday evening April 8, at eight o'clock at the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Owen McLeiler was hostess chairman yesterday afternoon for the regular meeting of the afghan group, meeting in Trinity Memorial Episcopal parish house. Her aides were Mrs. A. D. David and Mrs. Harry Hayden at the tea table, Mrs. Chester Randall, Mrs. F. M. Caughey, Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. Harold Baker, Mrs. William Crosssett, Mrs. Grace Siggins, Mrs. F. A. Beardsley and Mrs. E. C. Lowrey.

Thursday afternoon of next week the group will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Allen Langhans, 16 Crescent Park, with Mrs. Merton Irvine heading the tea committee.

ATTORNEYS DISBARRED
Two prominent attorneys, Arden D. Mook, 37, U. S. Commissioner for the Meadville district, and Ralph F. Joyce, 36, are disbarred under a court order on file in Crawford county court at Meadville today. Judge O. Clare Kent, who signed the decree, said the two were disbarred in separate cases on grounds they misappropriated clients' funds and that they had been charged with the forgery and uttering of checks.

GETS RADIO SPOT
According to the Associated Press, "Marge" is back on the air. She returned to the Myrt and Marge serial on CBS today in the person of Helen Mack, whose acting career has included screen and stage. In addition to radio, Helen was selected because she sounded a great deal like the original Marge—Mrs. Donna Fick, who died February 15. Since then Myrt (Mrs. Myrtle Valli) had been carrying on alone. Both on the air and off Myrt and Marge were mother and daughter. Something like 200 actresses were interviewed or auditioned for the part.

Adaptability of Workers Revealed in Nation-Wide Registration Under Way

By State Employment Offices
Numerous examples of the adaptability of American workers are coming to light as a result of the recent call for men and women with trades needed in defense industries, who are not working at such trades, to register with local State employment offices, according to Ernest Kelly, Executive Director, Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation. He explained that the United States Employment Service, with which the Pennsylvania State Employment Service is affiliated, is making an intensive effort to get all persons registered who have formerly worked at certain trades essential in the production of defense materials, but are now unemployed or employed at some other type of work. He added that these workers, as well as all other unemployed workers capable of holding a job, have been urged to register at once so that they can be located quickly when there are openings for them in defense industries or in other types of business now expanding.

Mr. Kelly stated that some of the most unusual instances of versatility among American workers have turned up among those responding to the call for urgently needed workers with training and experience in the following types of jobs: in aircraft manufacturing—airplane sheet metal workers, wood workers, aeronautical engineers, and inspectors; in shipbuilding—ship carpenters, loftsmen, boatbuilders, ship fitters, caulkers, and marine machinists; in machine shops and machinery manufacturing—machinists, tool makers, lathe operators, die makers, and tool designers.

The employment service does not encourage or desire workers who are employed in any of the above industries to register.

Mr. Kelly said that for some very specialized jobs there was already a shortage of workers and the employment offices have been asked to suggest some closely allied field of work from which they could supply applicants for jobs. As an example he told of a call from an Eastern munitions plant for workers trained in the making of time fuses. "Only a very few were available, he said, 'so the files of the local State employment office were searched for workers with some similar skill. This office found that they had a number of unemployed skilled needle workers registered and suggested that the munitions plant try them out on the time-fuse jobs, this was done, and after a little training they proved able to do the work satisfactorily.'"

Mr. Kelly said that many similar instances have developed in local State employment offices throughout the country. He stated that the work of supplying workers for defense industries is so far progressing satisfactorily. "However, as plants for manufacturing defense materials are completed, there will naturally be a demand for more workers," he pointed out, "and it is essential that we be able to get in touch quickly with men and women qualified for jobs in these industries." His statement to workers throughout the State was that information on jobs opening up in defense industries or on training courses to prepare for these jobs can be obtained from any of the local offices of the State employment service located in every city and larger town. He pointed out that registration at a local State employment office does not cost anything and may afford the worker an opportunity for just the job he is looking for.

ley and family, Miss Marjorie Rowley, of Irvine, and Willard Dexter, of Starbuck.

Harry Ludwick had the misfortune to fall on the ice at his home recently, hitting the back of his head and is confined to his bed with a fracture.

Miss Dorothy Rowley attended her sewing club on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Helen Larson in Warren, it being Miss Rowley's birthday, she was given a gift by the club and by her secret sister.

The Sunshine Club met at the home of Miss Mae Bishop on Friday afternoon, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. Doris Stanton, presided. Mrs. Ann Meley acted as secretary in her absence. It was decided to give each baby a gift and action taken to take a penny collection each meeting for this purpose. Mrs. Florence was appointed in charge of it.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Viola Firth, at which time the quilt will be tied. Two guests were present, Mrs. Hazel Kays and Mrs. Aubrey Nelson. The hostess served refreshments.

Dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Firth were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dale and daughter, Doris, of Youngsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Burgett, of Russell, and Miss Kate Burgett, of Cleveland, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stanton on Sunday.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lindell on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kearn, of Erie, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Echman and family, of Starbuck.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stanton visited Mr. Stanton's father, Asa Stanton, at the home of Mr. and

HEART'S HAVEN

Ruth
Rosemary
Corby

YESTERDAY, Mrs. Marbury and a party of friends have flown to an island off the North Carolina coast to look at an old and handsome house she may want to buy. But the plane that was to have taken them away has not returned, there is a storm brewing, and everyone is nervous. There is also a tangle of personal interests—Eve and Neil and Brett make a triangle, and Gina, Brett and Ham make a second and interesting one. And finally, there is a sinister, as yet unexplained air about the house and its two caretakers, the Jacksons.

Chapter Nine Masquerade

BY FOUR o'clock Julie had taken to peering out of the library window and giving weather reports at ten-minute intervals.

"The storm is getting worse," she announced with an air of resignation.

"You're exaggerating," said Jim Drossard. "It couldn't be worse."

The plane had not returned. Yes, the pilot had been told to call for them about one o'clock. Ham repeated over and over, but of course he was delayed by the storm. No one seemed particularly alarmed; even Brett Rodman accepted his fate with calm. Only Mrs. Jackson watched them suspiciously, as if she had suspected that this might happen all along.

"Is this a hurricane region?" asked Mrs. Marbury, looking up anxiously from a collection of old prints somebody had found in a drawer below the bookshelves.

"Hurricanes get around," said Julie gloomily. "They turn up in the oddest places."

"Nonsense!" Mr. Howe took off his eyeglasses, nervously polished them, and set them back on the bridge of his nose. "This is nothing but a rain-storm."

"I wish Gina would come back in the house—and Eve, of course," Mrs. Marbury added, remembering her duties as a hostess. She tried to worry about her guests as well as her niece.

"They're coming now," said Julie. "That's Lordy Mac scooting along under the bushes. I think. The animal is so wet it might be anything."

"They don't have anything on this island," Robert Howe laughed, "except ghosts, and I haven't heard anything about animal ghosts." He was playing solitaire and did not look up as he spoke.

The noisy arrival of the two girls and three young men, who had gone out exploring some time before, made everyone in the room turn toward the doorway. Gina and Eve came in first and the three men brought up the rear.

"Did you have a nice swim?" inquired Mr. Howe with heavy sarcasm.

"They're probably all headed for pneumonia right now," Julie exclaimed sharply.

"I told them there was no use going out," the lawyer retorted, shuffling the cards again. "There's no use banging your head against the inevitable. That's one of the facts of life that our friends here might as well face."

Neil said good-naturedly. "Anyway, we got a chance to stretch our legs a bit. I don't see how you can hang around the house all day—this house especially. It gives me the jitters!"

"That's just because it needs a good cleaning," said Mrs. Marbury. "It's really a lovely old house. I'm going to buy it."

"You said that before," observed Mr. Howe. "If you want my advice—"

"She doesn't!" said Hamilton Millard. "If she wants this moth-eaten old wreck of a place she certainly is entitled to it."

"Listen—" Gina teetered back and forth on her heels. "Don't I make the squishiest sound?"

"Gina! Your throat!" wailed Mrs. Marbury. She turned beseeching eyes on Julie. "She gets tonsillitis every time she gets her feet wet!"

"She'd better not get it here," answered Julie with decision. "Both of you girls go upstairs and change everything."

"Change?" giggled Eve. "What will we change to? This was only to be an overnight outing. Don't you remember, Julie dear? We can hardly dress for dinner."

"Well, go take those things off anyway," retorted Julie. "Throw your wet things outside the door. I'll send Mrs. Jackson up for them. She can dry them in the kitchen."

"Does that go for the boys, too?" put in Neil plaintively. "Or doesn't anybody care what happens to us? We're ready to be wrung out this minute!"

Julie, having had her executive instincts aroused, met this situation with another burst of decisiveness.

"Go find Mr. Jackson," she told the three men. "He'll have something you can put on—overalls, or something. Go along now, all of you. Get out—shoot!" She waved her hands determinedly at them. "You're ruining Mrs. Jackson's floor standing there making puddles!"

Dressing Up
THE men laughed and withdrew. Julie ran after them and opened the door. "Call Lordy Mac, Ham!" she shouted. "He's got to be wrung out, too."

Obeyingly, Ham whistled and Lordy Mac bolted through the door, almost upsetting Julie in his haste.

Upstairs Gina and Eve, toweling their hair, were making suggests to each other about possible apparel. Gina was possessed with a desire to dress up.

"You'd think, in a lovely old house like this, there'd be scads of old-fashioned dresses," she said. "And there may be—if we look around. I want something really picturesque—something that will make that iceberg of a Brett Rodman look at me, instead of at the furniture."

The closets in both their rooms yielded nothing whatever, and though they pulled out bureau drawers and opened chests, they still found nothing.

"Look," said Eve suddenly. "There must be an attic to this house. And there are always old clothes in attics."

"You're smart," said Gina admiringly. "I would never have thought of that. I'll bet there's an attic full of old clothes."

But it was found only after the opening of many doors, with much laughter, and more than one startled "Oh—" when one of the other ran into a cobweb. They climbed the stairs and came out into a dim, raftered room full of the usual odds and ends that accumulate in an attic. A trunk in a corner proved to contain just what they had hoped to find: dress after dress, carefully packed away, exuding a faint fragrance of lavender when they were shaken out of their folds.

"It's just as if we'd stepped between the covers of an eighteenth century novel!" Eve exclaimed. "I do hope some of them fit us."

Gina finally chose a garnet red frock of thick rich satin, and Eve decided on a flowered muslin. They even found little heeled slippers, with ankle ribbons, that would go on their feet if they handled them with great care, for the materials were fragile with age, and felt as though they might fall apart in their hands.

Like a couple of conspirators the girls, with their bundles under their arms, hurried along the gallery to their rooms.

"Lock your door," said Eve in parting. "Don't let anyone see you with all those rings for dinner. We'll go down together, after everyone else is in the dining room."

Later, when Mrs. Marbury called upstairs, "Are you all right, children?" they were almost ready.

"Never better," sang out Eve. "We're fixing a surprise."

Surprise
THE dinner gong sounded soon afterwards. Eve waited behind her door, listening until the sound of footsteps outside had died away. She turned the key then and opened the door softly, just as another door creaked further around the gallery and Gina pipped out. Prepared as they had been for each other's appearance, both girls were, for a second, taken aback at the complete transformation the beautiful old gowns made.

Gina's fair hair had dried now and was pulled up on top of her head in a top-knot and tied with a ribbon. The skirt of the heavy satin gown was very wide and full and emphasized by a tight plain bodice that left her white shoulders and arms bare.

Eve had merely run a comb through her cloud of dusky hair, and it tumbled down over the shoulders of the sprigged muslin dress, with its long sleeves and square neckline. Her white and pink ribbon bows at the shoulders and at the narrow waist, and the skirt was ruffled and frilled until it stood out like a ballet dancer's skirts. On top Eve's hair came ribbons crossed at the ankles and tied in bows.

"We're too quaint," said Gina. "Now aren't we?"

"They linked arms and went down to the dining room. Side by side, they stood in the open doorway. At that moment the door at the opposite end of the room opened and Mrs. Jackson came through from the pantry. She was carrying a silver tureen, and, as the door swung shut behind her, she glanced up and saw the two girls.

Everything seemed to happen at once. With a roar the wind burst open the double French doors opposite the table and the candles went out as suddenly as if snuffed out by one huge extinguisher. At the same instant, the tureen in Mrs. Jackson's hands crashed to the floor, the cover rattling and clattering across the bare floor, making a metallic accompaniment to a thin, wailing cry that rose high above the uproar.

Gina and Eve stood as if petrified in the doorway, their figures outlined dimly by the hanging lamp in the hall beyond them. The group around the table were equally motionless for the space of a heartbeat, then Brett Rodman's voice rang out with steady clearness.

"Here!" he cried. There was a click and as everyone turned to watch the sound of his voice, they saw the tiny flame of his cigarette lighter flickering in his hand. Jim Drossard leaped to his feet and forced the French doors shut, while the others, fumbling for their own lighters, helped relight the candles.

Behind Mrs. Jackson, the pantry door swung open and the gaunt face of her husband peered cautiously in. Mrs. Jackson, hand on heart, tried twice before she could control her voice.

"Get—get a mop," she commanded her husband, and stooped to retrieve the silver tureen.

"Was it you who howled like that?" Ham demanded. He crossed the room and picked up the tureen lid in the corner.

So when Gina Goodell and lovely Eve Prentice decided to dress up in some old dresses they found in the attic no one was much surprised to find that Mrs. Jackson, the caretaker's wife, acted as if the girls were ghosts when she saw them.

more clearly than the words themselves.

"What a lovely old book!" Eve exclaimed. "But be careful of it. Neil, the pages may break off. They look so—so brittle."

"Such funny writing," said Gina disappointedly, who was closest to it. "I can hardly read it from here."

"We'll have to have an official reader," said Hamilton Millard. "I nominate Mr. Howe."

"Everyone agreed with this suggestion, and the lawyer called the old book to the table. Gina, giggling, whispered something to Ham, and even Julie and Mrs. Marbury were smiling as they dragged chairs closer to the table before the fireplace. Only Mrs. Jackson, standing in the half-shadow, withdrew from the laughing group about the table, seemed ready to listen seriously.

"This is going to be good," said Neil, grinning.

"How's your eyesight?" Gina asked. "You've got the hard work, if you ask me."

Mrs. Marbury glanced her niece with a gesture. "You were the one who couldn't wait to hear the story," she reminded Gina. "Now I think you'd better let Mr. Howe read it in peace."

"Bring a couple of candles, will you?" Mr. Howe asked. "This is very faded."

Everyone scurried around, collecting extra candles. Finally, flanked by an imposing array of flickering but effective lights, the lawyer tilted his glasses firmly and began to read.

"The first part seems to be just the description of the house," said Mr. Howe.

"Let's see: 'An oaken paneled circular hallway, about twenty-five feet wide, with the drawing room and dining room on opposite sides. . . . It's skip that,'" put in Gina. "Get to the ghost!"

"Yes," said Brett. "We want the ghost!"

The younger members of the group took up the cry, making a chant of it.

"We want ghosts. . . . We want ghosts. . . ."

"Be quiet!" Julie commanded. "Mr. Howe may run out on us, if we act this way, and take the book with him."

Hidden Love
IN THE polite hush that followed, the lawyer, who had been turning the pages rapidly, now turned back a page or two and began to read again.

"Downstairs are found black holes and trap doors and a deep well or cistern, with a treacherous trap. Underground dungeons are discovered, twelve or more, in which are bones thought to be those of human beings possibly runaway slaves. It cannot be denied that a skeleton has been found in an upper room that can be reached only by a secret staircase."

"One mysterious chamber is over the drawing room. Access to it is secured by the secret stairway, or by placing a ladder from the garden outside to a little window high up on the gable wall. This window is secured by heavy oaken shutters. Examination of the room adjoining shows that there is no doorway connecting with the chamber. Long after the builder's death, and after the house had been sold, the hidden staircase leading to the drawing room was discovered. In fact, the whole mansion is honeycombed with places to hide, although several of these are now blocked off. The rooms for the slaves and others employed in the mansion are on the grounds!"

"No wonder it's haunted," exclaimed Gina, laughing. "How could any ghost resist so much architectural allure?"

"Don't be flippant!" admonished Neil. "A ghost or two may be on the premises just because of this."

"Sh-h-h-h," whispered Julie, as Mr. Howe took up the story once more:

"The first tenant and builder, Colonel Witherspoon, married Clementine, the daughter of a wealthy French merchant, but shortly afterward he fell in love with Marguerite, his wife's sister. The marriage occurred in France, and here is where the romance and mystery, and the alleged ghosts that made up a part of Colonel Witherspoon's life begin to appear."

"Marguerite, unwilling to be left behind when the Colonel and his bride sailed for America, secretly took passage herself, shortly after their departure. She disguised herself as an Indian squaw and followed the Colonel to his various posts. It is said that during the Indian wars she saved his life on a number of occasions. During this time Colonel Witherspoon was unaware of her identity."

"At last Marguerite, no longer able to conceal her love for the Colonel, made her presence known to him. He was building this mansion at that time, which was subsequently known by the name of Heart's Haven, a name then generally believed to be a tribute to his wife."

"Into the mansion Colonel Witherspoon built a secret chamber over the drawing room and here Marguerite remained some length of time, or until the Colonel was called away on military expedition. A Negro woman, Chloe, was ordered to care for her, and this she did, taking food and other necessities to the secret chamber daily."

"Three weeks after the Colonel's departure, Chloe died, without revealing her secret. Marguerite, so the story goes, unwilling to subject her lover to scandal, died of starvation a week before Colonel Witherspoon's return."

Mr. Howe, pausing to turn a fragile page with care, cleared his throat, and looked up, as if expecting a comment.

WARREN MAN IS INDUCTED INTO CANADIAN FORCE

Glenn K. Hyer, 15 Wayne street, who left here Wednesday for Malton, Ont., for examination for induction into the Royal Canadian Air Force, passed his tests yesterday, according to information received in a telegram to Mrs. Hyer today.

The Warren boy is listed as a co-pilot in the Dominion Skyways, and it is understood that if he completes his three months training successfully, he will be advanced to pilot.

Hyer received his training at Charlotte, S. C., but has done considerable flying in this vicinity during the past few years. At one time he owned a plane which was housed at the Warren airport.

Two other local fliers went to Canada this morning to investigate the possibilities of entering the R. C. A. F. Jay McCausland and Budd Maier left here with Toronto as their destination and it is expected they will know in the next day or two whether or not they will be accepted.

Classic Guild Play Ali-We-Je Club To Very Well Received Aid Relief Project At the High School

A program of dramatic entertainment that was entirely different was enjoyed by those who gathered in the high school auditorium last night to greet the three young representatives of the Classic Guild of New York.

The trio, Stanley Cobleigh, John Beckwith and Gray Carpenter, gave an excellent performance in Charles Dickens' stirring "Tale of Two Cities." Incidental music, stage and dramatic lighting effects added materially to the tense atmosphere built up from the moment of the guillotine.

The audience, although small in numbers, was most appreciative of the fine acting and staging and responded with enthusiasm.

The presentation was sponsored by the Warren High School Dramatic Club and the young players were introduced by Miss Jane Sherwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Cobleigh were guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Beckwith, at Russell, over night. Mr. Gray was an overnight guest at the Hotel Carver with his parents, who came from Pittsburgh for the performance.

The trio left this morning for Niagara Falls, N. Y., where they had an engagement this afternoon.

Zontians Enjoy An Evening of Movies

Fourteen members of the Zonta Club attended the dinner-meeting held last evening at the home of Mrs. Harold A. Ross, Hazel street.

Mrs. Mary Corah and Mrs. Ed Beck as co-chairmen. An out of town guest was Mrs. Harold Kitzel, of Pittsburgh.

It was announced that Mrs. Ethel Holmes Munsey, in her dramatic book survey under the club's auspices on April 21, will present John Buchan's "Pilgrim's Way."

The program was devoted to showing beautiful colored movies and a talk by Randall McCain, of the U. S. Forest Service, on the wild life and value of the Allegheny National Forest area.

The next meeting of the club will be on April 3, with Miss Agnes McLaughlin and Miss Ann Snyder as the committee.

Regent Prince Paul Refuses to Permit Cabinet Resignation

slavia who long battled for autonomy.

Prince Paul, however, was said to have declared to the Serbs who sought to quit the government that they could not do so until the agreement with Germany is signed.

Although the general staff members were reported to have countenanced acceptance of the German demands, military circles said feeling was high among lesser officers and the rank and file.

Pictures of President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill were displayed prominently in public places alongside portraits of national heroes in many towns, as Serb resentment apparently mounted against the government's decision.

The papers printed Berlin dispatches, however, which said the confidence displayed by Yugoslavia in Germany will be rewarded.

The cabinet members who resigned were identified as Dr. Srdjan Radovic, minister of social welfare; Dr. Branko Cudilovic, minister of agriculture and leader of the Serb peasant party; and Prof. Mihailo Kostantinovic, minister of justice.

The fourth was said to be Milan Prochac, minister of supplies.

The official version of the proposed program remained undisclosed but one source said it called for Yugoslavia to become the fifth nation to affiliate with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis in all respects save that she would not furnish active military aid and would forbid passage of German troops across Yugoslavia to get at the Greeks.

Such an agreement would insure that forces staying at Greece from Yugoslavia against being hit on the flank exposed to neighboring Yugoslavia.

CHURCH REVIVALS

PITTSFIELD SERIES IS CONTINUING

The revival series being held in the Pittsfield United Brethren church will continue through Friday, March 28, it is announced today.

Rev. L. Howard Morton, of Rixford, former local pastor, will preach each evening, including Saturday and Monday nights. Delegations from Warren, Columbus, Grand Valley, Chandeliers Valley and Brown Hill have increased attendance at the services.

Rev. Morton will occupy the pulpits of the Pittsfield and Chandeliers Valley churches on Sunday morning, exchanging with Rev. J. Leon Maneval, who will preach in Rev. Morton's parishes at Duke Center and Rixford. During his stay in this section, Rev. Morton is a guest at the Pittsfield Inn.

INTEREST INCREASES IN NAZARENE SERIES

Attendance and interest are steadily increasing in the revival services being held at the Church of the Nazarene, with last night's crowd being the largest yet. This number included several visiting ministers and a group from the Jamestown Nazarene church.

Rev. Burt Sparks sang "Happy in My Heart" and "Wonderful Morning" and Rev. J. C. Wygant, First Evangelical pastor, led in prayer. Other ministers present were Rev. Orman D. Faulkner, of Jamestown, and Rev. J. E. Kiffer, of Warren Free Methodist church.

Rev. Lon Woodrum, evangelist, read a request from Irish district, "Tiger O'Toole," and two other poems. His message was on "Thieves." In this he showed how the whole human race came under that heading and how Christ died to save all. A fitting symbol of this, he said, was the fact that Christ hung between two thieves on the cross and saved one of them.

The public is reminded that Rev. Woodrum is often called "The Edgemoor Guest of the Gospel" with his poems widely published and used by leading artists in many national radio programs. He will be here only tonight and through next week, with services at 7:30, and everyone is welcome to attend. There is no Saturday evening service.

1. The dies of March, in the old Roman calendar, fell on the 15th. Julius Caesar was warned of that date.

2. St. Patrick, March 17.

3. The lion and the lamb. If March comes in like a lion, goes out like a lamb, it will depart like a lamb, and vice versa.

4. Andrew Jackson, general and President, was born March 15, 1767. Madison, Tyler and Cleveland were also born in March.

5. March 21, according to the calendar at least, is the first day of spring.

Selections for Musicales-Tea to Benefit the YWCA War Fund Are Announced Today

Mrs. Howard Huff, general chairman of the Y. W. C. A. musicale and tea to be given on Saturday afternoon for the benefit of the Emergency War Fund, announces today the numbers to be given on the program.

Mrs. H. C. Warren, chairman of the religious work and world fellowship committee, will preside and the following program will be given, starting at three o'clock:

Vocal solo—"The Lord's Prayer"—by Malotte-Bonny Johnson, soprano, with Lulu Mae Donze as accompanist.

Talk—"I Take Inventory"—Mrs. J. A. Davidson.

Vocal solo—"I Hear the Forest Praying"—Virginia Davis, soprano, accompanied by Lois Johnson.

Prize solo—"Bygone Days"—by Cecile Lamont-Betty Braunschweiger.

Vocal solo—"I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked"—by Geoffrey O'Hara—Mrs. Everett Borg, contralto, accompanied by Charlotte Erickson.

Book review—"The White Chiffon"—by Alice Duer Miller—Mrs. Howard Huff.

Vocal solo—"Ave Maria"—by Luigi Lucci—Viola Lundmark, contralto, accompanied by Evelyn Whittemore.

During the serving of tea, music will be provided by Romaine Erickson, violinist, with Ruth Eckardt at the piano. The tea hour is from 4:30 until 5:30, with Mrs. W. F. Bennett as chairman of the refreshments committee.

Tickets for the benefit will be available at the door for those who have not purchased from the committee and a cordial invitation is extended to both men and women.

Trinity Choir To Sing Famed Motet

The choir of Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, under the direction of Miss Ethel McCray and accompanied by Miss Jean Robertson, will present for the anthem at the eleven o'clock Sunday morning service the celebrated motet for soprano soloist and six-part chorus, "Gallia".

Written by Charles Gounod, words for this composition are taken from the first chapter of Lamentations and deal with the trials of Jerusalem under siege.

Mrs. Corinne Deap will be the soprano soloist.

The young people's communion service will be at nine o'clock Sunday morning. All young people of the parish are invited and all other members who care to attend.

There will also be an early communion service at eight o'clock. It is announced by the rector, Rev. E. P. Wroth.

C. WALLACE LOTT WED IN SOUTH

Word has been received in Warren of the marriage of C. Wallace Lott and Ruby Frances Couch, the ceremony having been performed on January 26, 1941, by the Rev. Craighton Craig Adams at the Penny Farms Chapel, Gainesville, Fla.

Mrs. Lott is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford Blaine Couch, of Galax, Va. Mr. Lott is the son of Mrs. Cena Lott of Warren, and is employed by the L. & L. Men's Shop of Gainesville. Mr. and Mrs. Lott are residing at 431 North Oak street, Gainesville.

Grange Notes

WARREN GRANGE

Master Curtis Armstrong presided at the regular meeting of Warren Grange, No. 1025, when two candidates were balloted upon and other important business was transacted. The committee working on the Bundles for Britain project reported and many squares for the Afghan were turned in. Others are expected to be completed by the next meeting. Since many were absent because of the bad weather conditions, it was decided to purchase yarn to be given out at the next meeting and those who wish to knit may communicate with Mrs. Elmer Ploss.

In the absence of the lecturer, Mrs. Flossie Schweitzer, who is reported ill, the usual literary program was omitted. Sherm Offelt showed some pictures that were very interesting and entertaining. After the meeting, Mrs. Dalrymple and her committee served lunch from a table decorated in the St. Patrick's Day manner.

SLIM-BODICED STYLE FOR WOMEN Pattern 4680 BY ANNE ADAMS

You can give a prompt "Yes" to every gay Spring and Summer invitation with this becoming style for mature women in your closet. For Pattern 4680 by Anne Adams has those slim, faultless lines and simple, tasteful details that make for a good appearance anywhere. A be-flowered or leaf-strewn fabric would be the perfect choice. See the figure-flattery of those long, smooth bodice lines that form low points at the front waist-seam. Their slender effect is accentuated by double front panels and a row of buttons. The V-neckline is another attractive feature—dress it up with a necklace, or slips if you like. And have long or three-quarter sleeves, or short sleeves with single-scarf edges. You'll like this style so well that you'll probably make a second version in another fabric.

Pattern 4680 is available in women's sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 34, 3 yards 35 inch.

PLAN TO BOOST SALES STARTED ON EAST SIDE

The East Side Business Boosters, an organization composed of all business men in the district between Crescent and Hertz streets on Pennsylvania avenue, east today announced that persons who make purchases or make payments on account will be eligible to participate in a weekly award of twenty-five silver dollars.

This award will be given each Saturday night between seven and nine o'clock, starting on March 29, according to the announcement. The plan will be started tomorrow, it was stated.

Sixteen merchants in the two-block district are participating in the new plan to build up the section as a "one-stop shopping area," officials of the East Side Business Boosters said today.

Those who will take part in the awarding of the weekly gift of $25.00 are as follows: Neal and Company, the Sugar Bowl, Blyler's Red and White Store, Walker's Dairy Store, Fox Bros. Ideal Bakery, Fredrickson's Master Market, Drake's 5 and 10, Sam Davis Shoe Shop, Mostert's Bakery, Lewis Market, Banner Grocery, Smith Drug Store, Hoagvall Hardware, James Dry Cleaning and Warren Amusement Company.

More complete details concerning the plan may be obtained at any of the participating stores, it was stated today.

The section covered by the East Side Business Boosters is truly a one stop shopping center because of the varied line of merchandise sold in the area. It was stated today by the participating merchants.

One can obtain almost any kind of merchandise in the two-block district; it was pointed out, in the district may be found food stores, confectionery, hardware, plumbing, funerals, drugs, dry cleaning, novelties, phonograph records, sheet music, baked goods, fruit and produce, many stores, meats and many other articles.

Located in the geographical center of the borough, the district is easy to reach. Parking facilities are excellent with plenty of room for cars of the customers.

Everyone in Warren is invited to visit the district of the East Side Business Boosters and participate in the weekly awards, it was stated today.

BUSINESS MEN OF EAST SIDE IN NEW GROUP

Organized for the purpose of stimulating trade in the East Side shopping district, covering the blocks between Crescent and Hertz streets on Pennsylvania avenue, east, the East Side Business Boosters are making plans for many novel events which are expected to attract shoppers to that area, it was stated today.

The organization, which includes every place of business in the two blocks, was formed four weeks ago when officers were elected and a general plan of procedure adopted.

Present officers of the East Side Business Boosters are Louis Fredrickson, of Fredrickson's Master Market, president; N. W. Drake, of Drake's 5 and 10, treasurer, and Charles Lewis, of Lewis Market, secretary.

Several enthusiastic meetings have been held by the organization and much interest has been shown by all the members of the group. All are determined to do their utmost to attract business to the district, the officers said.

First in the series of events planned by the East Side Business Boosters is the give-away of a cash award weekly to some person who shops in the district. It was stated that all merchants in the group are enthusiastic concerning the plan and are cooperating fully to make it a success.

From time to time there will be other novel ideas introduced by the group, it was stated. These various features will be announced as they are to be presented.

Local Firemen Are Certain Spring Has Arrived in Warren

Spring is here! When the new season officially arrived at 7:21 p. m. yesterday, folks weren't convinced that they should lay away their "heavies" and prepare for outdoor activities. Members of the local fire department definitely confirmed

Social Security and the New Job

Many workers are now changing jobs or taking their first jobs as a result of the national defense program. Most of these jobs are covered by old-age and survivors insurance under the Social Security Act.

Mr. Bernard A. Farabaugh, manager of the Erie, Pennsylvania, Social Security Board office at 3001 State Street has prepared a series of eight brief articles for the Times-Mirror explaining the steps each worker should now take in connection with his social security account to avoid delays or difficulties when he or his family are ready to collect insurance benefits.

Any worker who does not have a social security account number card can obtain one at the Social Security Board office.

No. 6
A worker who wants to claim his old-age and survivors insurance benefits at age 65 or any time thereafter can get an application form by writing or calling at his nearest Social Security Board office. With the form properly filled in, the worker will need to furnish some proof of his age. If his wife is past 65, she will also be entitled to benefits, and should obtain and file a separate application form. She too will need to furnish proof of her age and, in addition, proof of her marriage to the worker.

There is usually little difficulty in obtaining a wedding certificate, but birth certificates of persons now 65 years old or more are comparatively scarce. If a birth certificate is not available, the Social Security Board office will advise claimants about other types of proof of age which will be acceptable.

Workers and their wives who are planning to file claims for old-age and survivors insurance benefits should obtain their proofs of age and marriage beforehand in order to avoid delay in getting their claims approved. Frequently it takes some time to locate such evidence as a church record of infant baptism or record from the family Bible.

Sheer Over Plaids

It's been many a year since evening clothes ramazed legs or, in fact, even allowed them to be seen at all.

Mainbocher's spring collection, however, there are striking, gossamer sheer evening gowns—day-length slips.

This one, of navy blue tulle with two-tiered skirt and little shoulder cape sleeves, is worn over a short slip of navy and white plaid taffeta.

The giant rose at the waistline is of matching taffeta, covered with one layer of the tulle.

Russell

Russell, March 18—The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association was held at the school house Tuesday evening, with the president, Mrs. Lena Briggs, presiding. St. Patrick's songs, led by Mr. Bennett, opened the meeting, followed by Lord's prayer. Roll call resulted in the 2nd grade receiving the attendance prize. The president appointed Mrs. Herman Moll, Mrs. Bernard Young and Miss Ethel Young to act on pre-school clinic committee. The nominating committee is composed of Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Ramsdell and Miss Swanson. The next program for the April meeting will be Home Education. In charge of Mrs. Jefferson Sears' hospitality committee for April, Mrs. Everett Eaton, Mrs. Ray Thompson then presented the following program: Humorous reading, Mrs. Jennie Clark; song and dance by Margaret and Margery Ramsdell; talk, "Cooperation With Education," by Robert Young of Warren. Refreshments were served by the committee.

Paul Butler and the high school basketball team and Melvin Bennett motored to Butler Saturday, where the basketball team played a game with the Butler high school team. On Sunday members of the local team were dinner guests at the home of Mr. Butler's parents.

Miss Edna Thompson attended the 10th birthday banquet of the Youngsville Business and Professional Women's Club, held at the Pittsfield Inn Tuesday evening.

Mrs. C. H. Ver Milyea entertained at a dinner in honor of Mrs. Mary Morrison's birthday anniversary at her home Sunday. Besides the honor guest, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ver Milyea and son, of Warren, were present.

Richard Fellows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fellows, is a patient in the Warren General Hospital.

Mrs. Archie Pasco is ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fehlman and daughter, Helen, spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fehlman, at Corry.

America's Card Authority

In the days of auction my favorite partner was John Law of Cleveland. We won a number of auction championships together, but never competed in a contract tournament.

When I was in Columbus, O., recently, Law came down from Cleveland and we played in one of the events in the Central Ohio Tournament. I am sorry to say we did very poorly, but I found that Law had lost neither his sense of humor nor his ability.

I rank Law as the world's greatest auction player.

Here is an example of his card-playing skill. In response to Law's two-bid, his partner bid three clubs, showing the club ace. The three-diamond bid was made to find out if partner held the king of diamonds, and when North responded with four diamonds, Law went to six hearts.

When the king of clubs was opened, the natural play was to win with the ace, which would defeat the contract. Law refused to win the first trick and West was helpless.

If West continued with a club,

SHEFFIELD ROD AND GUN CLUB OBTAINS LAND

Sheffield, Mar. 21.—The executive board of the Rod and Gun Club this week entered into an agreement with the Central Pennsylvania Lumber Company for the purchase of a tract of land on the Bull Hill, which the club will use for rifle ranges and other purposes and on which a clubhouse will be erected in the near future.

Transfer of title to the property will take place as soon as the survey can be made and the necessary legal documents drawn and recorded.

The tract, containing about 50 acres, is situated about a mile and a half from town, on either side of the Bull Hill road, with the major portion lying on the north side of the highway. The land adjoins the old Bull farm property.

It is expected that construction of the clubhouse will be started with the arrival of warm weather, officials of the gun club said in announcing the land purchase.

MOTHERS CLUB MEETS

The Lincoln School Mothers Club met Wednesday afternoon in the school with Mrs. Lewis Jones, president, in charge.

The scheduled speaker, Mrs. Althea Correll, Girl Scout executive, of Warren, was unable to be present and her place on the program was filled by Miss Alice Nelson, local school nurse, who gave a short talk and answered questions on the tuberculosis tests which are being conducted in the local schools.

The program, consisting of four playlets and a group of patriotic exercises, was presented by grades one and two, under the supervision of teachers Mrs. Hanchett and Miss Baynes. The attendance banner was awarded to grade 2.

Mrs. Page Vashaw was chairman of the refreshments committee.

CHICKEN DINNER

A chicken dinner served from 5:30 to 7 o'clock last evening in the dining room of the Methodist church by the Women's Society of Christian Service was patronized by a total of over 200 persons.

Chairmen of the event were: Mrs. A. D. Bramer, ticket committee; Mrs. Earl McCaskey, kitchen committee; Mrs. Fred Carlson, dining room committee.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Finley Klingensmith was hostess at her home in Mill street Wednesday to the Five Hundred Club. There were five tables in play, and prizes went to Mrs. Geo. Blake and Mrs. Michael Bross. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Faden and children have moved to Philadelphia, where Mr. Faden recently secured employment with the General Electric Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pontious have sold their home here and this week went to Elwood, Ind., where they will make their future home.

Yugoslavia is a Holdout no Longer

Yugoslavia, a baby of the last war, has come into current war news by her acceptance of an invitation to join the Axis. Map shows Yugoslavia's position in relation to possible developments in the Balkans. Broken arrows mark a route German troops may take through Yugoslavia to get at the British and Greeks. (British have withheld confirmation of reports of troop movements to Greece.)

The plains of Macedonia, rolling out of the lower Balkans into the Aegean, have been a scene of conflict since days of Alexander the Great. Today close to a million troops—350,000 to 500,000 Germans and 250,000 to 350,000 British and Greek—stand ready to bring battle there once again. Terrain map shows how Germans, if attacking from their Bulgarian concentration points, can use only the narrow Nestos and Struma River valleys (1 and 2), vulnerable to attack from surrounding mountains. If Yugoslavia joins the axis, Germans could use wider Vardar River valley (3) and flank Salonika defenders. Should Germans use latter route, British and Greeks would have to abandon Salonika defense line and fall back on secondary positions shown.

CONROY AND TUCKER MAKE ALL-LEAGUE FIRST TEAM

"JAP" IS UNANIMOUS CHOICE FOR FORWARD SPOT; JOHNNY PICK AND BROWN GIVEN HONORABLE MENTION

Warren High School placed two men on the All-North League basketball team. It was announced today by Jimmy Nelson, league statistician, who annually conducts a poll of the coaches.

The two men so honored are Harry "Jap" Conroy, high school forward, and Richard "Red" Tucker, all-league guard last year, who was chosen for the second consecutive season for one of the defensive posts.

Conroy, the North League "player of the year" was the unanimous choice, receiving 100 votes. Tucker received 99 votes, as did Jimmy Barry, Bradford forward, and Johnny Pick, Emporium center. The fifth position was awarded to "Bucky" Fleming, Bradford guard, who drew 60 votes.

Bradford's championship squad also placed three men on the second team: Ralph Johnson, forward, Fred Fleming, center, and Ed Moffatt, guard. Fleming received more votes on the second team than any other player, being given 27 and Johnson 26. Barry, of Kane, got the nod for the other forward position with 25 votes and Johnny Krohn, of Johnsonburg, with 24 votes is paired with Moffatt at guard.

Johnny Pick and Robert "Sting" Brown, of Warren, were two of the ten men who received honorable mention. Pick was regular forward and Brown starting guard.

The balance of the honorable mention list is as follows: Canastota, Sheffield; Gigliotti, Johnsonburg; Pitt, Andrews and J. H. Kane; Sennott and Kelly, St. Mary's; Barilla, Ridgway.

Selections were made through the cooperation of Coaches Henry Harold Bruce, of Bradford; G. G. Griffith, of Johnsonburg; Roland Myers, of St. Mary's; J. B. Timmons, of Ridgway; Tom Drummond, of Sheffield; Vic Gentilman, of Kane, and J. Paul Civitti, of Emporium.

NORTH-SOUTH OPEN WON BY SAM SNEAD

Greensboro, N. C., March 21.—(P)—Before Samuel Jackson Sneed, the new North-South Open golf champion, teed off today in the first round of the $5,000 Greensboro Open, he made a statement that Sam Jackson Sneed was somewhere about the premises.

It was Sneed's fine golf, of course, which was the big factor in his record-tying victory in the North-South at Pinehurst yesterday. There wasn't anybody out there shooting that eleven-under-par 277 for him.

But there was somebody for whom he was playing the shots, and for whom he seems to play them best when they're close at hand. That's the blond and attractive Mrs. Sneed.

PIRATES' DEAL FOR RIPPER COLLINS OFF

Los Angeles, March 21.—(P)—Jimmy Collins' deal with the Pittsburgh Pirates is off. It was disclosed today. The Ripper has the alternative of returning to Los Angeles in the Coast League or remaining idle.

Dave Fleming, president of the Los Angeles Angels, called the deal off after reducing the original asking price of $10,000 to $5,000. Collins learning that the National League team was bidding for his services, refused to sign a Los Angeles contract calling for $700-plus per month. If he changes his mind, he will have to beat out the able Los Angeles rookie, J. Wellington Quinn, for a regular job.

SEMI-FINALS OF STATE TOURNEY ON TAP TONIGHT

Harrisburg, March 21.—(P)—Driving toward the state school-boy championship, six district title holders clash tonight for semi-final berths in the state-wide tournament.

Making their first start in the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association inter-district playoffs are Lower Merion, District One; Williamsport, District Four; Franklin Boro, District Six; and Bradford, District Nine. All drew byes in Tuesday's preliminary round.

Two of the battles take place in western Pennsylvania, with Franklin Boro facing sharpshooters of District 10, at Farrell while Bradford meets Duquesne, District Seven, at Pitt Stadium in Pittsburgh. The lone eastern contest brings together Lower Merion and Williamsport at the Penn. Palestra in Philadelphia.

The winner of the eastern clash will meet the victor of the Saturday night's Luzerne-Mahanoy City contest, also scheduled for the Palestra, for the eastern regional title. Both eastern and western playoffs are set for next Tuesday and the winners will meet Saturday, March 29, for the state championship.

Luzerne with 25 straight victories this year tops the eight survivors although all boast impressive records. Luzerne also has a mark of 47 wins in 48 games over a two year period.

Bradford has dropped only three games in 23, Franklin Boro three in 18, while Lower Merion has rung up 19 victories and two defeats. Williamsport won 16 of 21, Sharpshooters 20 of 25 and Duquesne has whipped four opponents in the playoffs since copping the District seven crown.

The Commercial Bowling League has turned out to be one of the best circuits, from the breathing angle, that this community has seen in many moons.

By dint of a three-point over on the O. K. Service, the Rich's Atlantic have the top run, but have rolled four less games than all but the Newell Press.... The West Ridge moved into second place with a clean sweep over the Sherwood Refinery, and tied for third, a game behind, are the O. K. Service, Olson & Bjers, National Forge and Daily Times.... The latter whitewashed the Newell Press and the National Forge, copped four from Olson & Bjers.... Inter's 220 was high game last evening and Walsh's 576 was good for top total.

Kirberger's Jewelers lost ground last night by losing three to Harvey & Carey while the second place Times-Mirror were clobbered a similar victory over Hultman's.

The New Process and Beckley's divided and Denny Cochran's Barbers moved farther away from the cellar with a three-point win at the expense of the Darling Jewelers.

Budd and Lloyd Rapp turned in 223 and 221 singles and the latter's 586 was best block of three.

KOCH'S BOW OUT

Any hopes that the Kochs-Texas Lunch team had to retain the Inter-City League title went a-glittering in its last three matches when it lost four points to the Bradford Zippos and the Burns Bears.

Against the Bradford All-Pans, the local legions copped a sweep, but the loss to the Zippos was the last straw.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

The news that "Jap" Conroy and "Red" Tucker had been selected on the North League all-star team was about as much of a surprise as it would be to hear that Joe Louis had knocked out King Levinsky. The unanimous vote for Conroy and the 65 for Tucker showed that we weren't the only observer who considered Warren High's pair of stars the most outstanding in the circuit. Our unofficial guess on the all-stars missed fire by one—we placed Ed Moffatt at the varsity guard spot in place of his teammate, "Bucky" Poling, but, of course, Poling proved to be the better man before the season was over and saw much more actual service. There certainly should be no complaints from any quarter on this season's selections, and after you got down past the first five it was a very difficult job, for the crop of outstanding boys was exceedingly small.

We think it is a good sign that the coaches are practically ignoring the high-scoring list. In the past, we have felt that the mentors just glanced at the basket-getting list and jotted down the top five for the varsity and the next bunch for the seconds. Last year they shoved Conroy down to the seconds, which drew gasps of surprise from nearly every one of the scribes, and not a few of the coaches, who could see no comparison between "Jap" and Frank Gigliotti, of Johnsonburg. This season Gigliotti got the honorable mention to which he is entitled. The Blue Jay forward has a keen eye for the hoop, and has the makings of a very fine basketball player if he can alter his style of play, but we were never convinced that he was all-star calibre. Conroy not only is one of the best shot we have ever seen, but is also a hard-driving man in floor work and a good man to have around when it comes time to break up the opposition's offense.

Frank G. Menke, capable tub-thumper for the Kentucky Derby, writes that all of the sports writers on his mailing list are to have an opportunity to win a new hat or a 15-pound Kentucky hickory-smoked ham. All we have to do is be in the running of a contest to pick the Derby winner, second, third, fourth and fifth horse. Fifty hats and ten hams will go out to sports writers and turf experts who come the closest and, with that battered cheapeau we have been sporting for the past two years, we'd better get out our form sheets and sharpen our pencils. Last year, you'll recall, we picked the field to finish as follows: Bimelech, Gallahadon, Midland and Dit. And they finished: Gallahadon, Bimelech, Dit and Midland, which wouldn't have won a slice of bacon, much less a ham.

YEARS AGO IN SPORT

March 21, 1921.—At a meeting of baseball players and fans, held last night at the Warren Cigar Co., Bobby Burns was named manager of this city's 1921 baseball team. Bill Paris and George Hunzinger were elected to assist Bobby.

March 21, 1931.—Massa, Mack, Schindler, Donovan and Fleming, the last-moving Atwater-Kent five, pulled the biggest upset of the season last night when they toppled the hitherto-undefeated Yes Gas Station team in the City League, 38-22. The scoring for the winning team was about equally divided, while Bill Mulvey racked up 14 points for the Yes Gas.

LEGISLATORS WOULD BAR FITZSIMMONS FROM PENNSYLVANIA

By NEA Service

Harrisburg—Pennsylvania legislators say they should bar Freddie Fitzsimmons from the state this year. The Brooklyn veteran won 12 of his 16 victories last season from the Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia Phillies.

SIMON EXPECTED TO HANG AROUND BUT SHORT TIME

Detroit, Mich., March 21.—(P)—"How long will it last?" That old, familiar chant was heard today with Joe Louis, carrying on with what is described as his "bum-of-the-month" campaign, expected to blast the championship aspirations of ponderous Abe Simon tonight.

The battle, set for 20 rounds in Olympia Arena, is jokingly called the nineteenth defense Louis is making of his world's heavyweight championship since he won it from James J. Braddock in 1937.

The chant started in Boston last December when the Brown Bomber beat Al McCoy so unmercifully he was unable to answer the bell for the sixth round. It was next heard in New York where stout-hearted Red Burman yielded in five rounds. Next in Philadelphia where the battle-worn Gus Dorazio fell on his face, completely knocked out, in two rounds.

TUNE IN QUICKLY

If you hurry, you may be able to hear the broadcast of the Louis-Simon fight on the blue network. The listeners are reminded that the fight begins at ten o'clock and is expected to end very shortly afterward.

As the hour of the bout approached there was no one, with the exception of Simon and his Manager Jimmy Johnston, who conceded ponderous Abe a chance.

Said Manager Jimmy Johnston: "Abe, himself, told me that he would win, and who am I to call him a liar?"

The consensus was that the 250-pound Simon would not last more than four rounds and might not answer the bell for the second.

He will outweight Louis by 47 pounds and advantage which may only prolong the agony for the huge, slow-rooted Simon.

Jack Blackburn, the champion's trainer, predicted the fight would not last three rounds.

"Joe is ready, fast and sharp," Blackburn said. "He'll sure have a big, slow moving target to shoot at and I don't see how he can miss in three."

GIANT BLUEFISH IS TAKEN BY WARRENITE

According to the Palm Beach, Fla. Post, Marion Weakley, of this city, has gained the lead in the bluefish division of the winter contest of the West Palm Beach Fishing Club by landing a ten-pound, nine-ounce specimen in Lake Worth on Tuesday.

Largest bluefish in the club's records was an eleven-pound, seven-ounce fish landed by Frank L. Porter, Jr.

Britain Said to be Ready To Permit Two Shiploads of Wheat For France

posals—both as an emergency act and as a "trial shipment"—and final approval awaits only formal Franco-British agreement on conditions governing the disposition of the supplies abroad. The wheat cargoes would be shipped for immediate relief purposes, it was said, in view of reports by Gaston Henry-Haye, French ambassador to the four French in unoccupied France, is making it necessary to reduce the ration "from one thick slice to one thin slice of bread per person per day."

At the same time, it was pointed out, the grain supplies would serve as a "trial shipment," pending continued negotiations through which the Vichy government is seeking to induce Britain to relax the blockade to permit foodstuffs purchased with some of France's $1,500,000,000 "frozen" funds here to be shipped to unoccupied France and distributed there under American supervision.

France has announced her readiness to give any guarantees that the food shipments would be consumed entirely by the 16,000,000 persons in areas not under German control.

Sub-Committee Approves Bill Minus Changes

deal a powerful psychological blow to the Axis powers. The three—Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of Navy Knox and General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff—testified before a Senate appropriations subcommittee yesterday as administration leaders worked to rush the progress of the big cash allotment so that it would be ready to go to the White House by Monday night.

Organized resistance to the measure, meanwhile, virtually collapsed. Democratic Leader Barkley was confident that the full appropriations committee would endorse the House-approved legislation without change by tomorrow. He told reporters there seemed to be no substantial opposition and that a Senate vote Monday was "quite possible."

Mr. Roosevelt had been piped aboard, a crowd had assembled near the dock to watch the Potomac and Benson cast off, and the mayor of Port Everglades, Lewis Moore, had presented the president a new fishing rod on behalf of the city commissioners.

The course of the sea trip was confidential, although there had been rumors that Mr. Roosevelt would round the Florida peninsula, sail into the Gulf of Mexico and perhaps put in at New Orleans and Corpus Christi, Tex.

Port City Savagely Attacked and fire bombs on Plymouth during the night. Three churches, a motion picture house, commercial buildings and many private homes were damaged by the raiders.

A number of children were killed when a bomb hit a hospital and two children were born during the attack. One of them was delivered by doctors working in a bomb crater where the mother had been thrown.

A hundred planes flying in waves of six were said to have been over the city, and daylight disclosed great holes torn in many streets.

Firefighters labored in a hall of bombs, some of them of the fragmentation type. Loads of incendiary bombs were dropped and even as firefighters jumped to the task of extinguishing them fresh showers of fire burst over the city.

The king and queen in the tour of Plymouth yesterday spent their time visiting shipyards and went aboard a former United States destroyer. The warship was one of 118,820 for anti-aircraft guns and other equipment to be held in reserve for installation on the large number of merchant vessels which would have to be taken over in event of war and for the arming of merchantment which might have to operate in danger zones.

A $60,000,000 item was included for the acquisition and conversion of 12 additional auxiliary vessels, including the so-called "seatrains" to be used as airplane transports.

A total of $579,859,700 of the army funds was charged to "additional cost incident to maintaining and training" the 1,418,000 men expected to be in service by June 30.

The navy's share of the total was $285,413,520, including $133,118,820 for anti-aircraft guns and other equipment to be held in reserve for installation on the large number of merchant vessels which would have to be taken over in event of war and for the arming of merchantment which might have to operate in danger zones.

business regulation. Some of the anti-trust activity of the Department of Justice has been inspired by the U. S. E. C. disclosures.
All books on economics—past, present and future—may have to be re-written in the light of the committee's findings.
This last is far more important than most people might think. Whether you like it or not, the economics of the world has changed beyond all recognition in the last ten years. Economic "laws" have been shot full of holes than have been the target. The easy theories of Adam Smith's "Wealth of the Nations," dating from the last century, no longer have standing, thanks to the nifty innovations of Soviet and totalitarian states and the compromises of the rest of the world to meet their competition. What must apparently be done, therefore, is to re-write economics, basing on present practices, and drafting whatever new "laws" and theories can be drawn from actuality.
